ENGLISH STORIESHALF YEARLY EXAM*The Princess and the Pea

Once, a prince wanted to marry a princess. He travelled far in search of her, but never figured out whether the girl was a real princess or pretending to be one. Then, on a rainy night, a girl knocked on the door, searching for shelter. She was drenched and claimed to be a princess. His mother gave her shelter and decided to test whether she was a princess or not. She put a pea on her twenty layered mattresses.

The next morning, she woke up and complained about the uncomfortable mattresses. Instantly, they knew that she was a princess. Only a princess could be so sensitive to feel a pea under mattresses. So the prince got married to her, and they lived happily for the rest of their lives.

ANNUAL EXAMThe Ugly Duckling

Once, an ugly little duckling lived on a farm. The others mistreated him, so he ran away from the farm. Wherever he went and whomever he met, everyone used to mock him. This forced him to wander through frozen winters alone.

He flew to a lake where he met three swans. They greeted him cheerfully. He was confused as he was always chased away by others. And then, he saw his reflection in the lake. He was surprised to see that he had grown into a swan. A young girl who was throwing bread at a swan called him beautiful. He was happy.

ENGLISH STORIESHALF YEARLY EXAM*Pinocchio and the Fairy

Once, a carpenter named Geppetto carved the figure of a young boy out of wooden logs and named him Pinocchio. A good fairy made the puppet come alive, and he took him as his son. Geppetto wanted Pinocchio to go to school. But the boy met an evil puppet master who wanted to use Pinocchio for money. One day, the master asked him to go to the 'fun island' to become a real boy.

As Pinocchio started walking with the master, the good fairy overheard them. She asked Pinocchio where he was going. He lied, and his nose grew. Every time he lied, his nose grew. He became sad at seeing this and wept. Finally, he told the truth and apologized to the fairy. Seeing how sorry he was, the good fairy restored his nose to its normal size.

ANNUAL EXAMThe Princess and the Salt

Once there was a king and his three daughters. One day, the king wanted to know who loved him the most. So he asked them how much they loved him. The youngest daughter said, 'As much as I love salt.' He became furious at being compared to salt and banished her.

She wandered in the forest and met a wealthy merchant from a neighbouring village. She told him everything. They then married and lived in a mansion. The king lost his way and reached the merchant's place one day. Though he was recognised, they did not talk to him. The daughter prepared a variety of delicious food for him. When the king started eating them, he realised there was no salt in any of them. The king, furious, demanded to meet the cook.

He was astonished to see his daughter. She said, 'The food is terrible without salt. Now, do you know how much I love you?' The king apologized and promised never to doubt her love for him ever again.

Once there was a king and a queen. They didn't have any children, so they went to three fairies. After listening to the king, they decided to give him a son. The beautiful fairy granted the child beauty. The intelligent fairy granted him smartness, and the wise fairy granted him two donkey ears. As promised, the prince was born. He grew up with two donkey ears but was the smartest and most handsome. He always wore a hat to hide his ears and could not take it off.

One day a royal barber came to cut his hair and saw the donkey ears. He couldn't keep it to himself, and soon word spread across the kingdom. Everyone started making fun of the prince. Finally, one day the prince pulled off his hat and confessed that it was true. He then said sorry for pointing out others' faults when he had bigger ones. The fairy appeared and got rid of his ears. ENGLISH STORIESHALF YEARLY EXAM*Princess Rose and the Golden Bird

In a faraway kingdom, there was Princess Rose. She had a longing for a red rose. So every evening, she went out to the balcony, clapped her hand, and a golden bird flew out of nowhere and sat on her shoulder. Her hair began to shine red. She sang a lullaby, and everyone in the village fell asleep and had good dreams.

One day, an evil witch discovered this and cast a magic spell on her. That evening, her hair turned black. And that day, everyone fell asleep after the lullaby but had bad dreams. So, the princess asked the golden bird for help. The bird advised applying rose water to her hair. The next day when she sang, her hair turned red, and everyone had a good dream. When the witch found out, she cast another spell and stole all the roses from the kingdom.

Princess Rose began to cry; at that time, a prince came with a string of red hair. Her tears fell on the hair, and they became a rose. She put the petals in water, applied them to her hair, breaking the spell. When asked, the prince said, 'She gave me a sign of loyalty, and I gave her mine.' The king announced their marriage. For her wickedness, the witch died, and roses once again bloomed in the kingdom.

ANNUAL EXAMSnow White and the Seven Dwarfs

This is the story of a beautiful princess, Snow White, named for her skin colour. She lost her mother, and her father married another woman. The new queen was equally beautiful and had a magic mirror. She was proud and used to consult the mirror often, asking, 'Mirror, mirror on the wall, who is the fairest among all?'

As Snow White began to grow, she became more beautiful. The queen's mirror started to say her name when asked. Out of jealousy, she hired huntsmen to kill Snow White and bring her heart. They pitied the princess, asking her to go far away and never return. The huntsmen gave the heart of a pig to the queen.

Meanwhile, Snow White started to live her life with seven dwarfs. The queen found the truth when she consulted her mirror and decided to kill Snow White herself. Disguised as an old woman, she convinced Snow White to eat a poisoned apple. She ate it and went into a deep sleep. The seven dwarfs kept her in a glass coffin. At the same time, a prince was passing by. He was mesmerised by her beauty and kissed her hand to bid farewell. The poison got dislodged as soon as he kissed her, and she woke up. They both got married and lived happily together. The evil queen fell sick and eventually died.
